Railroad Commissioners Hold Him Responsible

For Causing the Terrible Railroad Wreck at Veazie, April 2.

They Do Not Hold Crossman Altogether Blameless.

Report of the Board Upon the Investigation of the Disaster.

AUGUSTA, Me. April 26. The railroad commissioners have completed their special report on the accident on the Maine Central Railroad at Veazie, April 2, 1895. The report after rehearsing the story of the accident which has already appeared in print proceeds as follows

Statement of Facts

The St John train No 64, which by the time table should leave Vanceboro for Bangor at 1 30 A M, on that morning was detained there until 2 55, being therefore one hour and twenty five minutes late in leaving that point. At Costigan this train received an order to cross train 71 at Milford which train was met and crossed as per order. No other order was received by those in charge of train No 64 till the collision occurred in Veazie. As is customary when train No 64 is late, a special train was sent to Bangor for the accommodation of such passengers as might desire to take the train going west from Bangor at 7 15.

For the security of this special train blue flag was displayed at Oldtown station for a time which however, was taken down after the arrival of train No 64, thus permitting train No 64 to proceed. At Orono blue and red flags were displayed till train No 64 arrived, but were taken down by order from the train despatcher's office in Portland. These flags, as appears, were displayed for the purpose of holding train No 64 at Orono till after the arrival of train No 37 at Basin Mills, which train had orders to cross No 64 at that point. It appears that train No 115, known as the Bar Harbor train, which leaves Bangor at 6 30 A M, had orders to cross No 64 at Exchange street in Bangor, and that train No 93 which leaves Bangor at 6 45 had order to cross No 64 at Veazie.

These last mentioned trains, as appears left Bangor on schedule time, though train No 93 was delayed some eight or ten minutes in the yard near the lever switch in Bangor on account of the Bucksport train's arrival. Had it not been for the delay above mentioned train No 93 would doubtless have arrived at Veazie in time to have gotten on the siding there before the arrival of No 64.

From all the testimony taken at the investigation it does not appear that there was any negligence or want of care on the part of any person in charge of the several trains above mentioned, nor on the part of those whose duty it was to receive and transmit telegraph orders. It is clear, that, if train No 64 had been given orders to cross train No 93 at Veazie, or had been held at Orono by the display of flags the accident would not have occurred.

As we have stated, a flag had been displayed at the station at Orono till after the arrival of train No 37 at Basin Mills when it was taken down by orders from the despatcher's office in Portland. By the removal of this flag, train No 64 was allowed to proceed without notice that another train, running in an opposite direction, had received orders to cross it at Veazie.

Cause of the Accident

By rule No 9 of the Maine Central Railroad Company, "Regular passenger trains moving west have the right over trains moving east. Rule 67 is as follows: "A red and blue flag and blue light, shown at telegraph stations signifies that orders or telegrams are awaiting the train.

"These signals are always shown in one place, which must never be changed except by permission of the General Manager or Division Superintendent. Under no consideration must a train or engine pass these signals without stopping for orders."

Rule 69 of said company provides as follows: "Special orders will be sent in the same words to each train affected, and will be sent simultaneously to each of the operators who are to receive it when practicable, but where it is not, the order will always be sent first to the train having the right to the road. The different trains will be addressed in the order of their superiority or right of track, where any exists, and each receiving office will take only its proper address."

By the provision of Rule No 9 above cited, train No 64, moving West, had the right of way over all trains moving East. Under the provisions of the rule last above quoted, this train should have received orders simultaneously with those given to other trains affected. If such an order had been sent to No 64, the accident would not and could not have happened except by reason of its violation by those to whom it was given.

Mr Barry, the train despatcher who was at the time on duty, in his testimony admitted that under the requirements of the rule train No 64 should have been notified of the crossing, and that he violated the rule by failing to give such an order but, at the same time, he claims, that at times it is not practicable to strictly obey it, especially when many crossing orders have to be given at or about the same time, and that on such occasions it has been customary to flag the train having the right of way at some point, until the trains moving in the opposite direction had been given crossing orders.

In this last statement Mr Barry is corroborated by Mr Hall, Assistant Superintendent, and former train despatcher, also by Mr Crossman, one of the train despatchers employed by the Maine Central Railroad Company. Mr Hall says in his testimony in respect to this rule—that, "in crossing two trains, and two trains only, they invariably, or almost invariably, use the double order, as has been explained by Mr Crossman. Send to both trains in the same words at the same time when they can, which is nearly always, but when there are more than two trains affected, they do not use the double order because it is cumbersome. When there is one train to cross two or more trains they commonly use single orders because it is clearer, less cumbersome, less liable to cause confusion or mistakes."

It will be seen that though Mr Barry violated the rule, as he admits, he complied with the custom as to its enforcement as explained by Mr. Hall. As appears, more than one train was to be crossed by train No 64 that morning. He therefore flagged No 64 at Orono, as was customary and gave single orders to trains Nos 37, 93 and 115. He so far did what he deemed to be "practicable" under the rule as interpreted by those in authority over him. To this extent, therefore, we think Mr Barry is blameless.

In this connection we deem it proper to say that we are satisfied that there are occasions when the rule as laid down could not reasonably be complied with, such as Mr Hall suggested. However, it may be somewhat questionable whether it would not have been better to have incorporated the exceptions, mentioned by Mr Hall, into the rule itself.

However that may be, the rule as printed seems to be one of the standard rules adopted and in use throughout the country. As we have before stated, flags were displayed at Orono by order of Mr Barry, the train despatcher then on duty at the office in Portland which indicated orders which would hold trains at that point, and as appears single crossing orders were given by him to the several trains that were to cross No 64. That shortly after giving those several orders he was relieved from duty as train despatcher by Mr Crossman who some time between 15 and 7 A M assumed the duties at that office. At that time as was customary at his duty, Mr Barry informed Mr Crossman of the orders he had given trains Nos 37 and 115, but forgot, as he says, to mention train 93. He testified: "I then went to wash up and when train No 64 got along to Orono he (Mr Crossman) said No 64 was at Orono. I mentioned the order No 37 had and that 115 the Bar Harbor train had an order on 64 to cross on Exchange street. Nothing further was said. He didn't ask me if that was all the flag was out for and I said nothing more."

"It is the despatcher's duty to look the book over to see why the flag is out. He can't always rely upon what the despatcher says for the order is copied in the book; 93's order was next to the last order in the book. If the despatcher had looked the book over he would have seen the order." This last statement may be, and doubtless is true. If Mr Crossman had examined the order book he would have seen, as stated by Mr Barry, that No 93 had orders to cross No 64 at Veazie as that order was then recorded in the book, and thereby would undoubtedly have ascertained that the flag or flags at Orono were there not merely on account of the crossing of No 37 at Basin Mills but also on account of the crossing with No 93.

For the neglect to do so we cannot hold Mr Crossman entirely blameless, but he had been informed by his predecessor at the table of but two trains that had orders to cross No 64. The information implied that no other train than the two mentioned were on the road. When he received information that train No 37 had arrived at Basin Mills he assumed, and reasonably too, that no other train was on the road except No 115 that was to cross No 64 at Exchange street in Bangor within the yard limits, therefore he saw no reason for holding No 64 at Orono nor for giving that train orders of any kind. From these facts we cannot but reach the conclusion that the direct cause of the accident was the failure of Mr Barry to give his successor, Mr Crossman, true information as to the orders he had given to trains then on the road.

To do so was clearly and unmistakably his duty.

It appears that after Mr Barry had left the table and while he was washing Mr Crossman inquired of him as to the flag or flags at Orono and informed him of the arrival of No 37 at Basin Mills, but even that did not remind Mr Barry of the fact that he had given a single order to No 93 to cross No 64 at Veazie and none to the last named train.

We are not unmindful of the fact that forgetfulness is one of the frailties of our nature, but such cannot be accepted as an excuse for one occupying the responsible position such as was then held by Mr Barry.

Conclusion

Having stated the facts which appeared in evidence, it is made our duty to draw from such facts such conclusions as they seem to warrant.

1st That James Ward, of Bangor, in the County of Penobscot, came to his death in Veazie in said County, on the second day of April, 1895, by reason of injuries received in a collision of trains No 64 and No 93 on the Maine Central Railroad.

2nd That the collision of these trains was caused by reason of forgetfulness and neglect of duty on the part of William A Barry, a train despatcher in the employ of said Railroad Company.

3rd That no blame attaches to the conductors, engineers or other trainmen on either of the wrecked trains nor to any station agents or telegraph operators on the line of said railroad.

MENACE TO PEACE.

The Views of Russia, France and Germany.

Expressed to the Representative of Japan on Terms of Peace.

Effect of This Will be to Encourage a Certain Party in China.

LONDON April 26. The latest and most direct information from authoritative sources as to the precise status of the negotiations between Russia, France, Germany and Japan received here says that the Russian, French and German ministers separately interviewed the Japanese vice minister of foreign affairs under instructions from their respective governments.

They presented memoranda in which it was stated that the governments of Russia, France and Germany, upon examining the terms of peace imposed by Japan upon China found that the possession of the peninsula of Liu Tong, claimed by Japan would be a constant menace to the capital of China and at the same time threaten the independence of Corea and render it not effective.

In fact in this sense and for other reasons, it was stated that it would be a constant menace to the permanent peace of the far East. Consequently the governments of France, Russia and Germany, desiring to show sincere friendship for the government of Japan, advised it to renounce absolute and final possession of the peninsula of Liu Tong. The memorandum made it plain that they hold it in the way of friendly advice and not in any way in open or covert menace.

The impression is gaining ground that Japan can rely upon the friendly counsel of the United States at the present moment.

The governments of Great Britain and Italy made it plain that they do not intend to follow the example of Russia, France and Germany. The great commercial interests of the United States in the far east, which the Japanese Chinese treaty of peace would largely benefit no less than the constant attitude of the United States toward Japan, lead diplomats to believe that the United States at this juncture will not fail to make such use of their good offices as will prevent Japan from being deprived of the fruits of their victory.

The treaty of peace has already been ratified by the emperor of Japan and it would be extremely difficult to make any change, the only effect of Russia's, France's and Germany's attitude must be to encourage the party in China opposed to any moderate and reasonable settlement and thus prolong the war indefinitely.

It may be stated positively that the reports regarding Japan's reply to the powers are incorrect. A reply was not sent as late as the evening of the 26th and from information received from the most reliable sources here it may be stated that the reply, while moderate and conciliatory in tone, will not contain any concession from what Japan regards as rightfully her duty.

SATURDAY APRIL 27 1895

Picturesque Maine.

The lecture to be delivered in this city next Tuesday evening on "Picturesque Maine" is one that should fill the Young Men's Christian Association Hall to the doors. Mr Edward C Swett is not only an eloquent word painter but the subject is one that appeals to every citizen who loves the State of his nativity and who has its future development at heart. Bangor has the honor of being the first city in the State to secure the complete lecture as a public entertainment. Mr Swett gave portions of it before the meeting of the State Board of Trade in Portland and it so delighted those present that the local Board of Trade made arrangements for its presentation in this city. Mr Swett is a public benefactor in calling attention to the beauty of Maine scenery, its desirability as a resort for the summer tourist and to the great natural resources of the State awaiting development. The lecture is finely illustrated by the aid of the stereopticon and will afford a most interesting evening's entertainment.

The Veazie Accident

The Railroad Commissioners have made their report in connection with the recent railroad accident near Veazie and it will be found in detail in another column of the Whig this morning. The Commissioners find that the accident was due to the neglect and forgetfulness of Train Dispatcher Berry who was in charge of the wire when the orders were issued to the outgoing train for crossing at the Veazie siding. The conductors and engineers of both trains are exonerated as [illegible] to any of them.

Suppressing Troublesome Facts

The effect of the new tariff upon the business of the country is so disastrous to Democratic prospects that the Administration is now suppressing important information. The monthly statement of imports and exports, a most valuable publication, has been discontinued, and has been followed by an order from Secretary Carlisle to discontinue the collection and publication of statistics concerning the tin plate industry. A Washington dispatch says: "A few weeks after the new revenue law of 1894 became operative Democratic vociferation in regard to tin plate suddenly ceased. Why? Well one reason was the publication of a synopsis of the official report of Special Agent Ayer of the Treasury Department to Secretary Carlisle on the production of tin and terne plates in the United States. This report, the last one that has been or will be published during the existence of this Administration, was for the quarter ended June 30, 1894, but it gave the statistics of production by quarters from the date when the provision of the Act of 1890 as to tin plate became operative on July 1, 1891. It also showed the net imports of tin plate during the year ended June 30, 1892 and also the amount of tin plate made from American and foreign black plate, respectively, in each of the three years during which the law had been in force.

"The figures relating to production, all of which were compiled from manufacturers' returns made under oath, were a startling revelation to the Administration. The year which ended June 30, 1894 had been one of universal business prostration and commercial distress, which had been most severely felt by manufacturing industries that were [illegible] Congress and President, and yet despite this [illegible] the domestic [illegible] from American black plate, had [illegible] pounds in the year [illegible] June 30, 1892 [illegible] 202 pounds [illegible] per cent in the year ending June 30, 1894. The total quantity of tin and terne plates produced in the United States in the latter year was [illegible] which was an increase of [illegible] 100,000 pounds over the preceding year, and the percentage of American black plate used was about [illegible] per cent. The entire quantity consumed in that branch of manufacture is computed with about 40 per cent in the previous year.

"It may be remembered that the Act of 1890 provided that foreign tin plates should be admitted free of duty on and after October 1, 1897 unless the aggregate quantity of tin plates lighter than sixty-three pounds to the 100 square feet produced in the United States during any one of the six years next preceding June 30, 1897 have equalled one-third the amount of such plates imported and entered for consumption during any fiscal year after the passage of this act, and prior to said October 1, 1897." According to Special Agent Ayer's report, the domestic production for the year ended June 30, 1894, solely from sheets rolled in the United States, exceeded by [illegible] pounds one third of the net imports of such tin and terne plates during the year ended June 30, 1892. Such progress had the new industry made in one-half of the period allowed for its establishment.

Two months later a Democratic Congress and President reduced the rates on imported tin and terne plates more than [illegible] per cent. The Administration is naturally averse to giving the country any information in regard to the effect of this reduction upon the new and once promising tin plate industry of the United States. There is some evidence, however, that the new industry had become so firmly established in the short space of three years that the blow aimed against it by a free trade Congress and President did not immediately produce, and has not as yet produced all the effects desired by them, but it is unhappily true that the wages of persons employed in the industry in this country have been reduced about 10 per cent to meet Welsh competition.

In this case as frequently happens in regard to matters that concern American commerce and industries, the information that is lacking at home is furnished from abroad. The State Department will soon publish a report from Consul Howell, of Cardiff, on the "Tinplate Trade of South Wales," which contains some interesting facts that have a bearing on the subject. According to his report the total exports of tinplate from Great Britain to the United States during the calendar year 1894 amounted to £2,781,027, which was £571,666 less than the total for 1893 and £921,116 less than the total for 1892. The exports to the United States during the month of December, 1894, however, while about £7,000 less than for the corresponding month of 1892, exceeded by about £110,000 the exports for December, 1893.

The Consul remarks that "the year 1894 has been a wretched one on the whole to the tinplate people in this country," and that "fond hopes were cherished among all classes interested that the Wilson tariff would immediately usher in such a revival of trade as had never been known in the history of plate manufacture, but by this time hope has given way to despair for the most part, for now, throughout the district, one hears rumors of stoppages of work, requests for concessions and demands for reductions of wages." The consul speaks of a reduction of 12½ per cent. in wages, but, according to a local newspaper, from which he quotes, this reduction was by no means general. That newspaper says:

"Twelve months ago it was fully expected that the new American tariff bill would relieve and throw fresh vigor into our trade, but these hopes have been rudely shattered. The American tinplate works, which it was thought would have to stop, are going on as vigorously as ever, competing for and oftentimes securing orders which formerly came exclusively to this country. Their position has actually improved recently inasmuch as they have obtained a reduction in wages of about 10 per cent., while in this country the strong effort made in the same direction has, up to the present, proved futile, excepting in a few isolated cases. A year ago Bessemer cokes were selling at 10s. 4½d. free on board, Wales, for full weight 14 by 20, today they can be had in plenty at 9s. 4½d., showing a reduction of 10 per cent.

"Excepting those plates for packing oil, practically the whole demand is now for lighter gauges going down as far as eighty-five pounds per 112 sheets, 14 by 20 instead of the former standard of 108 pounds and this change is evidently to be permanent. Probably the most striking feature of the year's trading has been the seriously diminished call for terne plates from the United States, the native works being equal to supplying almost the whole of that important trade. There has also been a marked falling off in all kinds of charcoal tins, but more especially the highly finished sorts. A feature of the year too has been the large shipments of finished black plates, not only to the United States, but to the continent of Europe. It is not thought however, that this trade will continue with us, but be gradually absorbed by native mills."

It will be observed that the Welsh newspaper confirms the statement that the only effect of the new tariff thus far upon the tin plate industry of the United States has been to reduce by 10 per cent the wages of American workingmen employed therein.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

United Hospital and Dispensary, Boston, Mass.

Course of European Powers Closely Watched by Japan.

Russian and French Fleets at Tokio Prepared to Stop Japanese Communication.

Reported that Austria and Italy Have Decided Not to Interfere.

LONDON, April 26. A despatch from Pekin to the Times says that Hon. John W. Foster and Li Hung Chang's Secretary, arrived in that city yesterday and visited the foreign office, the authorities of which held a consultation with the foreign legations later. It is thought unlikely that Li Hung Chang will come to Pekin, the dispatch says, but, instead will go to Chee Foo to exchange ratifications of the treaty of peace if the treaty is ratified.

European Powers Keenly Watched by Japan

LONDON, April 26. The Central News correspondent in Tokio says that the Japanese government watches with keen interest the course of the European powers regarding the Simonoseki treaty. The refusal of England to act in concert with Russia, Germany and France has encouraged the Japanese to believe that no strong single policy can be agreed on by the countries that feel their interests in the east are threatened by the terms of peace.

The last despatches from St. Petersburg are hardly in harmony with the sanguine views held in Tokio. Prince Uchtomsky who accompanied the present Czar on his tour in the east has written a long communication to the Moscow Viedomosti explaining the threatening features of the situation in the Orient. He declares that Russian intervention is inevitable. It would be criminal neglect, he thinks, if Russia were to allow Japanese menace to Russian interests in East Asia as contemplated in the Simonoseki treaty. He expresses the fear that bloodshed will be necessary before Japanese aggressive spirit can be checked.

He regards the Japanese as intoxicated with the completeness of their victory and determined to force upon the rest of the world a policy which all nations having great interests in East Asia must frustrate by peaceful means if possible but otherwise by the sword.

In commenting upon these opinions the Viedomosti says that if England persists in supporting Japan against other European powers, Russia will retaliate by opening the Pamirs question.

The Central News correspondent in Rome says that he learns from good authority that Austria and Italy have decided not to interfere in the East and will not take part in any European congress convoked to revise the terms of peace.

The Standard says today that Japan's reply to the joint protest, although not

is uncompromising [illegible] discusses France's and Germany's adhesion to Russia and concludes that they were influenced mainly by a desire to be agreeable to the Czar. "But whatever their motives," says the writer, "their coalition exists and must be reckoned with.

"While paying all respect to the power, capacity and resources of the Japanese, one feels like reminding them that the three allied powers can bring a resistless force to compel them to relinquish the whole territory that they acquired thus. If the powers remain resolute, there will be only one course for Japan. She must be content with the dividing which the [illegible] raised.

Would Rather Fight Than Renounce Her Acquired Territory

The Standard has this despatch from Berlin: "The conviction in well informed quarters is that Japan will prefer to fight Russia rather than renounce her acquired territory. The attitude of Germany in that event is much discussed. The fact that all the German war ships in Asia are assembling at Chee Foo and the Eastern coast does not look like strictly diplomatic intervention. The steel cruiser Princess Wilhelm will sail for the east today."

Prepared to Stop Japanese Communications

NEW YORK, April 26. A [illegible] says: "The Russian and French fleets in these waters are prepared to stop Japanese communications unless Japan abandons all claims upon territory in Manchuria."

Will Not Embarrass the King

LONDON, April 26. A United Press despatch from Stockholm says Premier Stang and his colleagues of the ministry in Norway are resolved not to withdraw their resignations but at the same time they will do nothing to embarrass the King. Consequently they have decided to remain in office until a ministry shall have been formed to succeed them.

Protest Sent to Japanese Minister at St Petersburg

LONDON, April 26. A despatch to the St James Gazette from St. Petersburg says that besides the note of protest sent to Tokio in concert with France and Germany, the Russian government has made a vehement protest to the Japanese agent in St. Petersburg.

BRIDGE WEAKENED

Caused by the Undermining and Falling Away of the Bottom Stones

CONCORD, N. H., April 26. The south abutment of the double bridge over the Merrimack river on the Concord and Montreal Railroad, Hooksett, has been weakened and crushed by the undermining and falling away of the bottom stones on the east and all trains run on the west tracks. FAMILY TROUBLES

Tragedy in a Texas Household

HOUSTON, Tex., April 26. Last night about 9 o'clock, Dr. J. I. Simmons, the family physician, was called to see a sick child at the residence of Mr. Robert Owen. He had written the prescription and was giving directions as to the medicine when Owen entered and without saying a word put a pistol to Simmon's breast and pulled the trigger. Dr. Simmons staggered back and pulled his pistol, but fell dead before he could use it.

Owen then shot his wife and left the house. Going to his hotel he blew out his own brains. Owen was a stockman and had been married about 18 months. A week ago he and his wife separated. Mrs. Owen will recover.

Nephew of Gov. Mitchell Shot

TAMPA, Fla., April 26. Near Braidentown, Thomas A. Mitchell, a nephew of Governor Mitchell of Florida, was shot and killed by Perry Hand. Mitchell, who was a bachelor owned an orange grove near Braidentown and Mr. and Mrs. Hand were neighbors.

Some time ago Mrs. Hand deserted her husband and went to live with Mitchell. The woman afterwards returned to her husband, but a week ago she again deserted him for Mitchell.

Hand then swore he would kill Mitchell. Yesterday Hand procured a gun and went to Mitchell's house and shot him. Hand is in jail at Braidentown and Mitchell's friends threaten to lynch him. The sheriff has a strong guard about the jail.

The funeral of Mrs. James L. Smith, aged 70 years, who died last Wednesday night at the home of her son-in-law Joseph White, at Watertown, was held this afternoon. The body was taken to Biddeford, Me., for interment.

For the fifth successive day the Standard Oil Company's prices for Pennsylvania field oil remain at $2.10 a barrel. On the exchanges the first bid this morning was two cents less than the close Thursday. At 1.30 A. M. $2.04 was the bid at Oil City.

ENGLAND'S ULTIMATU

Advised Not to Accede too Quickly to Demands.

Merchants Offer to Help Pay Great Britain's Claims.

Views of Leading Newspapers on the Question.

NEW YORK, April 26 A Corinto, Nic, special says During the first day some British officers and sailors were allowed to disembark Yesterday none was allowed to visit the shore except one officer who went to the post and telegraph offices There has been much signalling and passing to and fro of small boats between the ships Great activity was noticed on board yesterday afternoon The men trained at the guns over two hours

It was announced that Admiral Stephenson and his officers will visit the post The post captain and the ship captains have exchanged the customary courtesies

Telegraphic orders have been received to show all possible courtesy to the British, but under no circumstances to allow an armed force to land Over 1,100 men are under arms here now

The merchants here offered $12,000 to the government to help pay Great Britain's claim, but no answer has yet been received

Great Excitement Reported

NEW YORK, April 26 A special from Managua Nicaragua says The government has assurances that it will receive from voluntary subscriptions more than enough to pay the British claim within the time allowed by the ultimatum brought by Captain Stokes of the British squadron There is a strong feeling among the people against acceding too quickly to Great Britain's demand The money was offered by Leon City and the government seemed ready to accept it and pay the claim but was deterred by the feeling that if it should seem to be ready to obey England it would cause serious internal trouble There is great excitement here Two thousand men are ready to march for Corinto at a moment's notice

Using Great Care not to Offend United States

NEW YORK April 26 A special dispatch to the Sun from London says Great Britain will use the greatest care not to offend the United States in the settlement of her quarrel with Nicaragua Lord Kimberly has been most anxious from the outset to make it clear that he is unwilling to offend American interests in any form

The British foreign office in fact never showed such tender respect for the Monroe doctrine as it is now manifesting from day to day Instructions for landing the blue jackets have been most carefully framed and it is certainly far from the intention of the British government to undertake a policy of occupation such as exists in Egypt

Had Heard Nothing

WASHINGTON, April 26 At noon today the Nicaraguan Minister Dr Guzman, was without advice from Managua as to the decision reached by the Nicaragua government rendering the British ultimatum or as to whether British troops had been actually landed in the event of non compliance His advices at a late hour last night indicated that there would not be an immediate compliance with British demands Nicaragua has not the money in her national treasury to pay the indemnity in full, but it is believed that arrangements can be made in this country to secure a loan equal to the amount of which ample security will be provided

Has not the Money in Her Treasury

Notwithstanding the reports from London that nothing has been heard from the Washington government indicating a desire that Great Britain should be less harsh in her exactions it is again positively asserted that Mr Bayard on the 24th inst was instructed to ask Lord Kimberly to give Nicaragua two weeks to pay the indemnity in London instead of Duress at Corinto Mr Bayard may have been unsuccessful in securing Great Britain's compliance with this request but that such a telegram was sent to him there can be no question

Ambassador Bayard Endeavors to Obtain Extension of Time

LONDON April 26 The Globe says that U S Ambassador Bayard has sought to obtain from the foreign office a few hours' extension of the ultimatum of Great Britain to Nicaragua and he has also made suggestions in regard to the payment of the indemnity demanded

Reports Regarding the Enforcement of Demands

LONDON, April 26 The Westminster Gazette asserts that the enforcement of the British demands upon Nicaragua will not be put into effect by Rear Admiral Stephenson commanding the British war ships at Corinto until midnight No confirmation of this statement, however can be obtained at the foreign office

Can Be No Alternative

LONDON, April 26 The Morning Post says in a leader on Great Britain's treatment of Nicaragua Under the circumstances there can be no alternative We must act in accordance with the ultimatum Nobody who has followed up the events leading up to the present position of Nicaragua can say that England has acted without sufficient tolerance

Think United States Are Bound to Be Jealous

LONDON, April 26 The Daily News says The United States are bound to be jealous of foreign interference with the small republics of their continent Nicaragua evidently has been under the impression that she could take advantage of this and it must have been an unpleasant surprise yesterday to find that the United States did not intend to intervene, but even approved of Great Britain's demands Perhaps at the last moment Nicaragua will be wise enough to yield

Not the First Time Nicaragua has Been Reminded

The Standard says The government can only be commended for its action which after an ample display of patience it has taken against the impertinent insolence of Nicaragua It is not the first time we have had to remind that little semi civilized state of its obligations We had to blockade its ports in 1842 to bring the Nicaraguans to their senses If they count on the assistance of the United States they will be deceived No power in the world cherishes or manifests a more absolute respect of international law than do the United States and though perhaps there never will be wanting a few Americans to counsel discourtesy to England, they do not exercise a strong influence on the rulers

The people of the United States value the Monroe doctrine too highly to strain or misapply it The United States flag should never have been employed to cover the offences of wrong doers As for Nicaragua itself, and perhaps others in the new world it is imperative that countries however small and insignificant they may be, should be taught to respect international obligations They cannot be allowed to seek shelter under their military and naval powerlessness

No Request to Extend Time

LONDON, April 26 The Morning Post is informed that Great Britain has not been requested by Nicaragua or the United States to extend the time for the acceptance of the ultimatum.

Strongly Approved in Paris

The Daily News correspondent in Paris says The British ultimatum to Nicaragua is strongly approved here France's own relations to the South American republics have been very unsatisfactory lately She has sent an ultimatum to San Domingo and will send another to Venezuela

Will Wait Until the 11th Hour

CORINTO, Nicaragua, April 26 The reply of the Nicaraguan government to Admiral Stephenson's note and proclamation will not be delivered until the 11th hour Although its terms have not yet been made public, it is generally supposed it will be of such a nature as to bring about the occupation of Corinto by the English.

A permanent session is being held of the cabinet and leading statesmen are in the capital. Local authorities are making preparations to abandon the town. Whole families are leaving for various parts of the interior. All arms are being removed from the capital.

The cannons at Fort Carben at the Port have been removed. New telegraph stations have been established at Paco Caballos and all the instruments will be taken away from Corinto, thus cutting off all communications between Corinto and the interior in the event of an occupation by the English.

No popular demonstration has been made, but the prevailing feeling is bitter, and is running high against all English people. Hopes are still entertained of intervention of the United States.

As Lord M Blackington was returning to his home at Bay Point at 11 30 Tuesday night near the [illegible] on the [illegible] Point road known as [illegible] he noticed a man and woman on the bank The man stepped forward and Mr Blackington thinking he wished to speak with him, paused, when to his surprise and alarm the stranger opened fire on him from a revolver One of the shots struck the heel of his shoe and at the Blackington did not [illegible] Returning to the spot the next morning he found three bullets in the sidewalk from their size evidently from a 32 calibre revolver While the affair may have been intended for a joke and simply to scare Blackington the bullets came a little too near for fun and any repetition of the affair will be promptly made known to the authorities

A Kennebec Journal reporter was allowed to read a letter from one of the hustling and enterprising business men of Camden, which stated that people in that seacoast town are very enthusiastic over a line of railroad to run from there to Augusta, and thence to Lewiston It will be remembered that during a recent session of the Maine Legislature a charter was secured for a railroad from Lewiston through Augusta to Camden The incorporators of the corporation known as the Lewiston, Augusta & Camden Railroad Company, were J W Chase Elias Milliken H O Vickery G E Macomber H H Hamlen M V B Chase, F W North W H Williams and J F Southard The plan laid out was to run from Lewiston through the towns of Webster, Wales Bowdoin Litchfield West Gardiner Farmingdale, Gardiner, Hallowell and to Augusta and from here to Camden, passing through the towns of Windsor, China, Somerville, Palermo, Liberty, Appleton, Washington, Union and Hope During the session of the Legislature just closed, the charter has been renewed for about three years and amended so that the line may be run to Rockland or Camden The distance of this line would be between 65 and 70 miles and while across country would be an easy line to build in many places The prominent Augusta man with whom a Journal reporter talked said that he is confident that the line could be built and all that is needed is a man with push and hustle to take hold of the project and interest people A line of road as is here proposed would not reach any other within a distance of several miles, and would extend through a splendid section of the State It would reach towns which are rich, and the Augusta man says would willingly subscribe funds, should the movement be placed on a healthy basis One of the excellent features of the proposed line would be the connection with the Grand Trunk Railway at Lewiston, and a Journal man in talking with a Grand Trunk agent, the other day, was told that the road would land its aid to a line that would give through communication to the sea The charter as amended will allow the line to be run by electricity if preferred to steam The letter mentioned in this article is an encouraging one and was received by a man who is at present too busy to take hold of the matter He is, however, very cheerful over the movement and says that he fully believes every town between Augusta and Camden would liberally aid in the movement He expressed it that undoubtedly money enough could be raised in Augusta and the towns between here and Camden to build the line

Washington

Eastport Sentinel The community was greatly shocked on Sunday last, by the announcement of the sudden death of Mr. Thomas M Bibber, from apoplexy, at the home of his son, John F Bibber on Boynton street He had retired at the usual hour in good health and spirits, in fact in seeming better health than usual. At about 7 30 his son John arose, and as was his custom, called his father, who as he supposed, replied, but did not rise, some half hour later on going to his room, he was found still in death, and from his position had evidently passed away as peacefully as if falling asleep. Thomas Myrick Bibber was born in Portland in 1834, and came to Eastport with his parents in 1839, just after the big fire He was employed as book-keeper for many years by some of the leading business houses in Eastport, and in 1874 received an appointment as Deputy Collector of Customs for this district, serving until 1887, after the change in the administration, since which time he has been engaged in the wood and lumber business as senior partner of the firm of Bibber & Robertson, at the time of his death he was a member of the city board of assessors. Mr. Bibber was a man of genial disposition, a good citizen, and will be missed by a large circle of friends. He was a member of St. Bernard Commandery Knights Templar, and was buried with Masonic honors from his late residence yesterday afternoon.

TORTURED FOR YEARS

A FIREMAN'S BATTLE WITH RHEUMATISM

How He Conquered the Disease After Years of Misery

Henry Wagner, assistant engineer at Fire Station No. —, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "For the past nine years I have had rheumatism at intervals and suffered greatly. I would be off duty from ten days to two weeks each time, and although I tried many different so called remedies, could not obtain any relief. When I first heard of the remarkable cures Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy was making I was very skeptical, but just about then I had a very bad attack and concluded to give them a trial. The first bottle relieved me very much, and by the time I had taken the second bottle I was completely cured. I have not had a rheumatic pain since although I have been wet many times. Now I use Munyon's Remedies in my home and find them most excellent."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homeopathic Home Remedy Company of Philadelphia put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a vial.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch street, Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. AMUSEMENTS.

"Trilby."

"Trilby" made a decidedly good impression at the Opera House and was fully appreciated by large audiences Thursday and Friday nights and one of good sized Thursday afternoon.

Of course everybody, that is, almost everybody, has read Du Maurier's fascinating story and there was a very natural desire to witness the play which has already become famous.

That Mr Paul Potter, the dramatist, has done his work well cannot be denied, he having taken all the strongest situations of the book and woven them into an evening's entertainment which is absorbingly interesting from the rise of the curtain to the finale. He had fruitful material to work upon, 'tis true, but his dramatization is none the less effective on that account

"Trilby" has an original plot, hypnotism being very successfully employed and its method of treatment as well as the story of artist life in the Latin quarter of Paris have taken hold of the public very strongly. There is a veritable "Trilby" craze all over the land and the play will keep it going.

The third act is a particularly impressive scene and it was warmly applauded by the Bangor audiences, several curtain calls being given

The company is very strong in every role and made the best possible use of every situation throughout the play It was a great pleasure to witness such artistic work

Miss Sybil Johnstone made a very interesting and efficient "Trilby" and received due appreciation The repulsive "Svengali" was splendidly acted by Mr Fawcett, who portrayed the role with great realism and telling effect The three musketeers of the brush, "Taffy", "The Laird" and "Little Billee", were in excellent hands and to Mr Putnam, Mr Caufield and Mr Couger is due a very large measure of praise for sterling work The "Gecko" of Mr Romaine, the "Zou-Zou" of Mr Brooks and the "Mme Vinard" of Miss Muldener, were also finely taken and all other roles were well portrayed

Prof. Bristol's Exhibitions

Prof Bristol's horse taming exhibitions at The Norombega were well attended last night and Thursday night and again interested the spectators. The exhibitions show what can be done with horses when handled by those who have made a study of the subject and have had experience

To-night the last exhibition will be given and the programme will include a battle between Prof Bristol and the vicious stallion "Jack the Ripper" in a 24 foot enclosure. A number of other horses will also be handled Reserved seats are on sale at Warren's drug store

The City Engineer submitted reports with probable costs for surveys and assessments for sewers on Fifth street and Cedar street and hearing for parties assessed was ordered on each report on May 8th.

Mayor Snow submitted the appointment of Jere F Angley as park commissioner which was withdrawn and W I Curran substituted and confirmed.

Charles E. Field and George W Dolley were appointed public weighers and confirmed

Bartholemew Millett was appointed and confirmed sealer of weights and measures.

The appointment of Miss Annie M Low as assistant city treasurer was submitted by the city treasurer and confirmed

At the meeting of the board of aldermen Thursday forenoon to consider the location of the track of the Bangor, Orono & Oldtown street railway, it was found that the location formerly made from Pearl street to Hichborn hill would necessitate the track crossing the street twice, This difficulty was discovered when the city engineer looked over the limits of State street as originally laid out It was proposed that the location be changed and the track laid in the middle of the street from Pearl street to F W Carr's residence, from that point to be laid on the eastern side of the street, leaving room for one carriage to pass on the narrow side and two on the other This motion was objected to by Mr. Carr, but on visiting the place the aldermen decided that it was the best location for the track.

Decisions in Law

The following decision in law has been received by Charles F. Sweet, Esq, Clerk of the Eastern Law District

Androscoggin County

In re Brockway Manufacturing Company, ex parte, Mitchell, appellant

Rescript

Peters, C J.

Written objections to a proof of debt in the Court of Insolvency, should be verified by oath as required by rule X of that court This rule will be enforced if the deposing creditor chooses to insist upon his rights at the proper time, but the want of such verification will be held to have been waived by the deposing creditor when he proceeds to a hearing in the Insolvency Court, and no objection is offered to such defect until after hearing and an appeal has been taken and a new hearing begun in the appellate court

A treasurer of an insolvent corporation filed a proof of debt against his insolvent debtor consisting of its promissory notes issued by the treasurer to himself, the consideration of the notes being alleged to be money paid by him for the use of the corporation, and also as surety for it on other notes. It did not appear that the treasurer had authority to issue the notes thus taken to himself and the proof of debt for this reason was rejected by the Court of Insolvency. An appeal having been taken from that decree to this Court sitting below, the deposing creditor moved for leave to amend and reform his proof of debt by substituting in place of the notes an account to the same amount for the moneys thus paid by him for the use of the insolvent corporation.

Held. That this being a Court of general jurisdiction and not restricted by any statute, it has the power as an appellate Court to grant the amendment, (R. S., C. 82 § 10.), that if the notes annexed to the proof of debt were given without authority, they did not extinguish the original cause of action, and, therefore did not introduce a new cause of action, and is only such an amendment as is frequently allowed by this Court in actions at common law and those entered on appeal. Jaycox v. Green, 12 Blatch, 209, examined.

Exceptions sustained.

Held Up.

A boy named Kirk, who lives on Mt. Hope avenue, was held up at the point of a revolver Thursday night on Garland street by two tramps who demanded his money. He told them he had none and they seeing that they had made a mistake let him go. He lost no time in making rapid tracks for home.

FARMERS' FIELD DAY

At the Maine State College on Wednesday, June 5th

A "Farmers' Field Day" meeting will be held at the Maine State College, on Wednesday, June 5, 1895

The programme of the day will consist of inspection of the grounds and buildings of the college, exercises by the students and addresses by visitors and members of the faculty

The buildings will be open, allowing all to see the museums, laboratories, workshops, forcing houses, recitation and drawing rooms, apparatus and other facilities for instruction The machinery of the dairy building and the mechanic arts department will be in operation

Parents who have children to educate and young men who wish to become acquainted with the opportunities offered in the several courses of study will do well to visit the college at this time

All who are interested in the work of the institution are cordially invited to attend

In 1894 the attendance on field day was about seventeen hundred persons, who came largely from the immediate vicinity of the college This year it is proposed to exceed this number by securing such special train arrangements as will allow a more general attendance from nearly all parts of the State

It is hoped that provisions can be made for special trains on the Maine Central railroad starting at an early hour from points as far west as Auburn and Brunswick, which shall reach Orono at such an hour as will allow visitors five or six hours on the college grounds, and then return to their homes the same evening

On the Bangor and Aroostook the regular train arrangement is likely to suit the convenience of visitors from that part of the State

In order to give the railroad authorities assurances as to the patronage special trains would receive, it will be necessary to know approximately the number of persons who propose to attend

It is therefore earnestly requested that the secretary of each grange will promptly ascertain and report the number from his grange and neighborhood who would be glad to visit the college on that day, provided special trains are run as suggested

In towns convenient to the railroad where no grange exists, it is suggested that some one volunteer to ascertain the probable number of visitors

Doubtless the railroads will grant one fare the round trip or less

As soon as definite arrangements can be made, another circular will be issued giving the schedule time of the trains and any other needed information

All statements and inquiries in regard to field day should be addressed to Prof W H Jordan, Orono, Me
